“ When they asked me the meaning of imagination,
I said that it is a pursuit of better world...
Architecture is just an oppurtunity; what matters is life and human.”

Oscar Niemeyer

The journey has started by looking for answers of how better world could be empowered by better liveable environment?

We move forward by the inspiration which stems from our past and cultural values. It sheds lights on our architecture that pave the way for better human life and environment. We are blessed by coming from the same roots with Great Sinan who never had impossibilities in his character, which provide us to utilize his legacy. Owing to his boundless experience, we know that there can not be an approach which does not internalize human, environment, social life and economy even anthropology, psychology, sociology and philosophy in its' formula. That is why we embrace holistic approach in our works.

We know the fact that the work that we process has a responsibility towards the geography that we live in and the history that we come through. In this respect, we do not forget that next generations has a right to live in this World they will heritage from us. With this in mind, 'past' could be translated to 'now', then modernized and forwarded to 'future'

So, our endless ambition to look for perfection will never end...

Great respect to everyone that walk with us along this way with their ideas and endeavor..
